

Executive Proclamation

State of South Dakota

Office Of The Governor

WHEREAS, Through much of the history of our nation, the American people have depended on science and technology for prosperity and a brighter future; and,

WHEREAS, The science of chemistry, perhaps more than any other body of knowledge, has helped us achieve our modern society; assuring an abundance of foods; contributing to our homes, clothing, energy supplies and to our health; and, providing myriad new materials for our use on Earth and in space exploration as well; and,

WHEREAS, The Sioux Valley Section of the American Chemical Society on November 5, 1987, will call attention to past, present, and future contributions of their science through special events for their friends and neighbors, teachers, students and members of the general public:

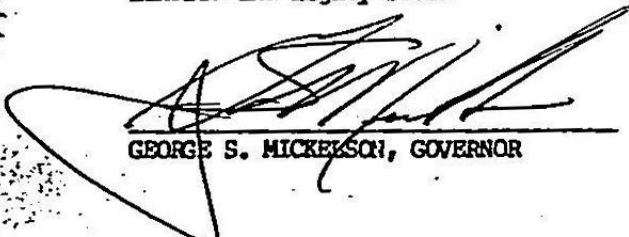

NOW, THEREFORE, I, GEORGE S. MICKELSON, Governor of the State of South Dakota, do hereby proclaim November 6, 1987, as in South Dakota, calling upon all our citizens to recognize the contributions of chemistry and extending, to the chemist and chemical engineers of this state, our deep appreciation and best wishes as they pursue the search for new knowledge that will be of benefit to people everywhere.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the State of South Dakota, in Pierre, the Capital City, this Sixteenth Day of October, in the Year of Our Lord, Nineteen Hundred and Eighty-Seven

GEORGE S. MICKELSON, GOVERNOR

ATTEST:

JOYCE HAZELTINE, SECRETARY OF STATE
